ELECTRICAL SENSATION .- Man is a mercurial creature. Talk as you please about the serone dignity-the soluteness and composure-the stolcism-if you like-of "old hunkerism," and it has no force only as a comparative iden.-Few communities have a stronger repugnance than our own, to anything that wars with the dignity or proprieties of life, and yet it is conclusively proved, that it may be roused to a audden pitch of enthusiasm, not to be surpass. ed in less halanced, and less careful communities. On Saturday evening last, after the arrival of the news of the landing of the telegraph nable, by the British vessel Agamemnon, at Valentia Bay, Ireland, in obedience to our own Impulses, and almost without a word with any one in reference to it, we determined to have an Blumination, and on sooner was the mantle of night spread over the earth, than our familiar but the torch, and our front leaped into the light of meridian day, from the blaze of fifty atreet. There was heard the fire bell, and simultaneously with the stroke of its clapper, starand their machine, headed by a fife and drum, of variety and taste to that attractive street, a bonfire in front of the Ashtabula House, the mustering of the band on the piazza, rowds Everybody felt his jacket swell with exultant joy and happlaess. Fire balls filled the air, and blasing tar barrels were rolled through the street, every youngster, and not a few of larger growth, were busy in gathering from the roar of every store, every box and barrel, and the increased fuel carried up the flames, in the ratio of the increasing joy and exultation of the people. The stock of crackers, with which a few found themselves stuck at the close of the 4th found a ready market. After the more beinterous demonstration began a little to subside, the crowd gathered in front of the Ashtabula House, and an extempore stand having been erected, our leading cit zens were severally called upon for speeches. Ex-Justice "Tompre put the ball in motion, and was followed by O. H. Fireu, James Philippe, as a representistive of John Bull, Mayor Monaison, A-F. Hospann, and Dr. M'Cust, all of whom made brief, pertinent and telling addresses. breathing the spirit of the occasion-union and good will towards the mother country, and admiration of the great achievement, which had been so successfully and completely accomplished, of uniting by a sort of spinal chord, the old and the new worlds. Notwithstanding the delirium and the entirely impromptu nature of the feeling and happiness of all. The occasion was press. one, not only pleasant in its inception and execution, but one that is remembered with pride and satisfaction. The effect upon ourselves as a community, has been as salutary as it was creditable. We feel knit together by a closer with a very becoming amount of cordiality and not willing to yield the palm to any other village, town or city of the land.

We should perhaps mention that three cheers were given in full measure, for the success of the great accomplishment, for Cones W. Finne. and for A. STADER. These geatlemen were not put side by side, as we think they should have been. Though Mr. FIRLD, bus carried to a successful termination the greater work, our townsman, and his assistant, Mr. Case, carry off the palm in priority, having been the first, we believe, to connect the dominions of Queen Vic. and those of Uucle Sam, in throwing a cable across from the city of Detroit to the Canada shore, using, too, we also believe, some of the same wire with which the former gentleman failed.

AFFLICTIVE .- A sad occurrence took place on Friday afternoon the 6th inst. by which two little beyond their depth, and while the third child was enabled to gain a foot hold, the sisters who are said to have been amiable and promising children, were drowned. The alarm was given by the litte survivor, and the bodies of the lost were recovered, as is supposed, in about an hour after the occurrence, of course, too late for any hope of the restoration of life.

Passing Counterpart Money .- A man by the name of ELIJAH BECKWITH, residing at New Lyme, was brought before Justice Booth on Friday last under an indictment, for passing counterfeit money. The prisoner had bought a hat at the store of Brigham & Co., and handed to Mr. Chamberlain, who was in attendance, a $10, State Bank of Ohio bill, which was sup posed to be good, taken, and the balance passed over to the purchaser, who left. A closer examination proved the bill to be a dangerous counterfeit. Beckwith was sent for, arrested, prenned as witnesses. The testimony went to about 3 acres of bushes. show that the prisoner had, inadvertently at least, paid out money of a like questionable character on two or three occasions before, but the proof was not deemed sufficient to warrant a binding over. Beckwith was therefore discharg-

The sentiment of Beckwith's neighbors, gathered from a free conversation after the examination, bad rather so unfavorable influence upon the minds of the listeners. The story that they told of him, is that Beckwith estensibly, but not very perseveringly, follows the business of farming, that absences from home are frequent, and maccounted for, and that his associates are of a more than questionable character. The oak graining, the resewood imitations upon tion of our citizens. the doors and stair rail, and the rich and lustrous coamel of the casings, are together a success of the art seldom equalled, and if excelled any where, certainly not within our purview .-The same mechanics have left their mark upon the marsion of Mayor Moremon, upon the same street, and another of the first class houses recently erected in our village, but as yet unfinished. In its scope and design, when carried out, this structure will be second to none in this section. Its ample dimensions, and substantial, ment we should perhaps devote a few lines to stacrice tapers. From this started into use all the enterprise of our friend Warour, who has the tallow candles, lamps, and lanterns along the | now enclosed, on Park street, within a lot or two of the Fowler place, a house of very respeciable pretensions, built in the gothic order, ted a full manued fire company, with torches which will, we judge, do much in giving an air

The two brick stores which we mentioned some time since as in contemplation, one by A. gathered as unaccountably as toads after a | C. Fing, for Gro. C. Hunnan, and the other shower. All was activity, all was onthusiasm by WELLS & FAULENER for their own occupancy, are in quite a state of forwardness, the masons being now at work upon the second story. They are, we believe, to be finished up in the same style as the completed portion of the block-iron pillars, and caps, and stone sills.

Nature is doing much for the North Park .-Such a vigorous vegetable growth as now covers that spot, speaks well for the strength and productiveness of its soil. The rankness of its growth, indicates an equally rank ambition which refuses to be satisfied with anything short of a full fruition of munifest destiny, and the appropriation of the entire resources, rights, and immunities of this favored spot. The broad application of this popular, young America doctriue, reaches as well, we suppose, the vegetable as the animal and political world, and the "Masterly inactivity" of our Mayor and Council, proves very clearly, that they are no novices in the modes of bringing about the most striking and stupendous results, of which the adoption of this principle is capable.

The silent influence of the above, even before is appearance, was potent enough to bring down the exhaberant growth of weeds, and led to a lining up of the walks, and imparting to the whole affair a very neat and comely appearoccasion, every movement was well conceived, ance. > SANDS, NATHANS & Co.'s CIRCUS.-It is admitted by all who are an fait in such matters, that the circus in question is one of the best in the country, and with the addition of the Caliope and the performing elephants, decidedly the curiosity of the age; there is no ground for wonder at the immense success of the company here, as in every other place at which they have exhibited. Independent of the intrinsic attractions of the performances, there is a method in the style of management, which of itself is one great ingredient of success, at the same time the proprietors are liberal, high-minded gentlemen. We can assure our country friends that in this exhibition they will witness more than is announced in the bills, rather a novel incident in show statistics .- Cincinnati Commercial.
